

STAKEHOLDER NOTICE

17 December 2018

Fee framework

The current QCA fee framework was updated in September 2018 to address a small number of deficiencies, add more context to some sections and clarify the allocation methodology relating to 'water' reviews. All regulated entities and entities that are subject to price monitoring were provided with the updated draft by letter and email, and a draft of the revised document was published on the QCA website on 29 October 2018.

Five email responses and four submissions were received by the stipulated closing date, 20 November 2018.

Following the review and analysis of all the responses, the QCA's Board considered the revised fee framework at the December Board meeting, and approved the revised document.

The revised fee framework has been published and will remain in effect until the next triennial review or earlier should there be any legislative change or operational imperative to undertake a further review.

The fee framework may be accessed at this link.