

STAKEHOLDER NOTICE

16 December 2022

Regulated retail electricity prices for 2023–24

We have received two delegations from the Minister for Energy, Renewables and Hydrogen (the Minister) to set regulated retail electricity prices (notified prices) to apply in regional Queensland in 2023–24, including two new time-of-use retail energy tariffs for small customers. We received these delegations from the Minister under section 90AA of the Electricity Act 1994.

Today, we published an interim consultation paper (ICP). This is the first step in our price review process and provides information on key issues we need to consider when we set notified prices for 2023–24. The ICP and the Minister's delegations are available on our website.

Timetable for our review

The following table sets out key milestones for this review, including when we intend to publish reports and consult with stakeholders:

Milestone	Date
Publish the interim consultation paper (ICP)	16 December 2022
Submissions on ICP due	by 18 January 2023
Publish the draft determination	February 2023
Stakeholder information sessions	during March 2023
Submissions on draft determination due	April 2023
Publish the final determination	by 9 June 2023
New notified prices take effect	1 July 2023

Invitation for submissions

Stakeholders are invited to make written submissions on matters raised in the ICP, or any other issues relevant to our price determination. Submissions on the ICP are due by 18 January 2023. We will consider all stakeholder submissions received within this time.

Information on making a submission, as well as our online submission form, is available on our website.
